Dear Bob:

Many thanks for your invitation of February 4, 1982 to join you as a sponsor of the colloquium you are proposing on future space technologies and systems. I believe that such a colloquium could be most useful, and I am very pleased to accept your invitation.

It might be a good idea if the four of us could meet soon in order to develop an agenda and to select some speakers. Needless to say, NASA would be very willing to provide some speakers for this colloquium. I look forward to working with you and the others on this matter.

With very best wishes.

Sincerely yours,
